PREFACE.

THE Collection now offered for sale requires little introduction to collectors of War Medals

Formed originally by the late Colonel John Murray, of Polmaise, it was the basis of Captain Tancred's book "Historical Record of Medals and Honorary Distinctions," published in 1891, and most of the rarer medals then in the collection are figured or described in that work, or in "The War Medal Record."

Since the death of Colonel Murray, the collection has been continued by his brother, the late Major A. B. Murray, and many fresh specimens added, especially in the sections devoted to Regimental and Volunteer Medals.

Dealing first with the Naval medals attention may be drawn to Lots 17 (Blake's Medal in gold), 34 (the Gold Medal and Chain presented to Captain Wooldridge for services in Aix Roads, 1809), 36 (the Gold Medal for operations at Bagur and Palamos, 1809), 184 (the Naval Gold Medal for Camperdown, 1797), and 190 (a Victoria Cross for operations in the Sea of Azoff during the Crimean War).

The Naval General Service Medals, 1793–1815, comprise some hundred and twenty lots (Nos. 40–162) and include many very rare bars.

In the Military Medals, the General Service, 1801–1814, number one hundred and twenty-five lots (199–323) and range from one to fourteen bars, nearly all in very fine state. The Peninsular large (Lot 324) and small (Lot 325) Gold Medals are also represented, and the Waterloo Medals (Lots 327–380) comprise nearly all the units to which these medals were issued.

In the Indian Section, there is a fine series of the East Indian Company Medals, both in gold and silver, including the Mysore and Ava Medals in gold (Lots 401 and 417), and a special gold Medal to Burmese, 1824–6, for services (Lot 419).

The Army of India Medals, 1799–1826, are very fully represented by eighteen of the twenty-one bars issued and by one medal with four bars. The later medals are also very complete

The American Section has in it six rare Indian Chief Medals (Lots 556–561), of which Lots 557 and 559 are specially notable.

Next follow some very fine Groups of Medals, notably Lot 597, which includes a Peninsular Gold Cross and Medal; Lot 618, an Indian group to father and son, including an Army of India Medal with four bars, and also two special decorations from the Sikh Government, and Lot 607, a remarkable group of English, Spanish and Portuguese decorations for the Peninsular.

Here are also, in addition to the one already noticed, two Victoria Crosses, Lots 611 and 621, both for deeds during the Indian Mutiny.

The series of Regimental Medals and early Volunteer Medals, both British and Irish, are very full and interesting, and it is to these that the principal additions have been made since the publication of Captain Tancred's book.

GOLD MEDAL AND CHAIN

PRESENTED TO

CAPTAIN JAMES WOOLDRIDGE, R.N.

FOR SERVICES IN AIX ROADS

11 APRIL, 1809.

Spink 150

The Medal is within a rope border, and has on the obverse a view of fireships approaching a fleet, the date on a scroll below.

On the reverse within a laurel wreath, "CAPTAIN JAMES WOOLDRIDGE LED THE BRITISH FIRE SHIPS WHEN FOUR FRENCH SAIL OF THE LINE WERE BURNT UNDER THEIR OWN BATTERIES IN AIX ROADS," extremely fine, unique [Pl. I]

 On the 17th March, 1809, Lord Gambier anchored his fleet in Basque Roads with orders to attack the French Fleet lying at anchor in the road of Ile d'Aix under the batteries of the island and shore. A number of fire vessels were attached to the fleet for this purpose, manned by volunteers. The attack was made under the direction of Lord Cochrane, who was selected for the purpose, but was only partially successful, some of the fire ships failing to reach their objective. The "Mediator," however, under the command of Captain Wooldridge broke the boom, composed of cables secured by anchors and floated by buoys, that had been placed in front of the French Fleet, with the result stated on the medal. During the action he was blown out of a port and died some years later from the injuries received. For his services he was promoted to post rank, and awarded by George III a gold medal valued at one hundred guineas, and presented by the Patriotic Society with a sword of honour. Sir Harris Nicholas states "A Medal was purposely struck for Commander James Wooldridge of the 'Mediator.' It was worn from the neck by a gold chain and the inscription is raised. The Medal was so long in preparation that Captain Wooldridge did not receive it until August, 1812."
